

Progress Update on Establishment of a 'Chemicals of Environmental Concern' List.

Burberry recognises the importance of working with other brands and the wider industry in its efforts to reduce the use of chemicals in manufacturing. As such, Burberry has joined the Zero Discharge of Hazardous Chemicals (ZDHC) Group.

The ZDHC Group will be establishing a sectorial chemical inventory and a prioritisation framework that uses the GreenScreen® List Translator, Bluesign and other criteria to assess their environmental impact and to prioritise the substitution of those chemicals with safer alternatives.

Burberry plans to release a Manufacturing Restricted Substances List (MRSL) which highlights chemicals that have been identified to be eliminated. Whilst challenging, this is an important and initial step in our action plan on chemical management in manufacturing.
